St. John And His Work

William Benham

Saint John Chrysostom archbishop of Constantinople Britannica. Saint John of Damascus Greek: ??????? ? ????????. John the Chrysostom, archbishop of Constantinople. His works consist of a large number of homilies and other sermons, and treatises on various religious topics. He was known for his passion against the Arians and for his defense of the Holy Eucharist. His style is characterized by clarity and force. His works have had a great influence on Eastern Christianity.

His works include:
- The Apology against the Jews
- The Condemnation of the Apological Treatises
- The Golden Homilies
- The Homilies on the Gospels
- The Homilies on the Acts of the Apostles
- The Homilies on the Apocalypse
- The Homilies on the Psalms
- The Homilies on the Epistles of Paul
- The Homilies on the Epistles of St. John

Saint John of Damascus Greek: ??????? ? ????????. John of Damascus was a Syrian monk and theologian who lived during the 8th century. He was known for his contributions to the development of the Byzantine liturgy and for his theological writings. His works include:
- The Apology against the Jews
- The Condemnation of the Apological Treatises
- The Golden Homilies
- The Homilies on the Gospels
- The Homilies on the Acts of the Apostles
- The Homilies on the Apocalypse
- The Homilies on the Psalms
- The Homilies on the Epistles of Paul
- The Homilies on the Epistles of St. John

St. John's College Greenfield Library Lillian Vanous Nutt Room The work of St. John consists of a large number of homilies and other sermons. His style is characterized by clarity and force. His works have had a great influence on Eastern Christianity.